

Story starter!

Moments earlier, she had been standing in her classroom holding the tiny port-key up in her hand, waiting for the magic to happen. With a flash and a puff of smoke they had vanished into thin air.

The port-key had taken them to some strange places before, but never to a jungle. The problem with port-keys is that you never quite know where you're going to end up!

They gazed around them and took in their surroundings; the stifling heat and cacophony of jungle noises put the children on edge - they would have to be exceptionally brave on this particular adventure...

Question time!

- ▶ What do you think a port-key is?
- ▶ What does the port-key look like?
- ▶ Where might they have been on previous adventures?
- ▶ How do you think they return home after an adventure?
- ▶ Where did they get the port-key from?
- ▶ If you could go on an adventure somewhere, where would you like to go?
- ▶ Where would you least like to go on an adventure?
- ▶ Does their teacher know where they have gone?
- ▶ Do their classmates know?

Sentence challenge!

---

Can you write a description of what it would be like to be in a jungle?

You could think about using your senses, for example, thinking about what sounds you might hear around you.

You could also describe how you might be feeling.

Sick sentences!

---

These sentences are 'sick' and need help to get better. Can you help?

- ▶ The girl held the port-key.
- ▶ There was a bang and some smoke.
- ▶ The children landed in the jungle.
- ▶ It was hot.
- ▶ They were scared.

Perfect picture!

Can you draw a picture of the children travelling to the jungle using the port-key?
