HALF TERM DAYS OUT

National Gallery

Explore, Build and Play

14th - 16th February

Free drop-in event

\(booking Recommended\)

Celebrate architecture and materials with Play Build Play as the Gallery approaches its building transformation

Work with artists James and Eva from Play Build Play to seek out decorative details throughout the Gallery.

From floor mosaics to colourful motifs, take another look at the building behind the paintings.

Play with scale, shapes and sensory materials to create new structures, under the magnificent domed interior at the centre of the Gallery.

This activity has been created in collaboration with families and staff from the Cardinal Hume Centre.

Mr Hamilton's Science and Curiosities Trail at Painshill

11 Feb 2023 - 26 Feb 2023

Key stage 1.& 2

Encourage curious minds at Painshill this February half-term and enjoy a family walking trail full of amazing facts.

Discover how plants draw up water, how boats stay afloat and how rainbows are formed.

Charles Hamilton, who designed Painshill in the 18th century, loved science. He built a Waterwheel to create his lake and was one of the first people to install a lightning conductor on his tallest building.

Take a walk around the features in his landscape and learn about the natural world.

The perfect day out for all those little ones that can't stop asking why!

Seasonal Challenges

Have a go at our seasonal forest challenges. To acquire the stamp for your passport, write up to 250 words about the challenges you did, which forests you visited, what you enjoyed and what you learned. This is worth up to three hours depending on how many challenges you have completed. We understand that not all children are able to complete written work; where necessary, the child may give verbal answers which are noted by a parent or teacher and sent with an accompanying comment.

Send your work to learning.England@forestryengland.uk.
